Re: CY 2005 Disclosure Statement

Dear Judge Smith:

This letter constitutes an amendment to my CY 2005 Disclosure Statement, necessitated by information that I received within the last few months based on a series of inquiries that I pursued. Since it is an amendment, I have attached to this letter the certification form that accompanies the disclosure statements and used that as the signature page for this letter.

Part VII (Investments and Trusts), line 18, lists "Flat, Newmarket, England (probate estate)" as an asset that I held in my capacity as the personal representative of the 1999 probate estate of my sister. On behalf of the heir to that estate, I issued instructions to the solicitors in England to transfer the asset to another family member and to myself, in equal shares, sometime in 2004 or early 2005. I heard nothing back from the solicitors, despite inquiries, until January 2006, when I was informed by the solicitors that the asset had be transferred as requested. I was subsequently provided with a copy of the "registration" of the transfer in the county records (analogous to "recording" a real estate transaction in a county in the United States), which registration occurred in January 2006. At the time I submitted my CY 2005 Disclosure Statement, I assumed that the transfer had occurred in January 2006. However, this year (CY 2007) I learned that the transfer apparently occurred in March 2005, although it was not registered until January 2006. In consequence, and regardless of the date of "registration", it seems to me that the asset should have been listed in the CY 2005 Disclosure Statement the way it is now listed in my CY 2006 Disclosure Statement, on line 10, as "Flat, Newmarket, England (now own 1/2)". By extension, the same applies to Part VII, line 26 of the 2005 statement as well, which is the rental account connected with the rental property. The correlative entry in the 2006 statement is line 11.

Sincerely,

James S. Starzynski
United States Bankruptcy Judge
